

SCHOOL ROLL OF HONOR

UNVEILED BY GOVERNOR.

AT MARIST BROTHERS' COLLEGE.

A very impressive ceremony took place at the Sacred Heart College, Paringa Hall, Glenelg, yesterday afternoon, when a handsome roll of honor subscribed for by the Marist Brothers' Old Scholars' Association, was unveiled by his Excellency Sir H. Lionel Galway. There was a very large and representative gathering, and among those present, apart from his Excellency and Lady Galway and suite, were the Hon. A. W. Styles (Minister of Education), Mr. Crawford Vaughan, M.P., Senator J. V. O'Loughlin, Hon. F. S. Wallis, M.L.C., Major Smeaton, M.P., Mr. P. Reidy, M.P., Mr. J. McGuire (Railways Commissioner). Apologies for unavoidable absence were received from the Premier (Hon. A. H. Peake), Sir Richard Butler, and Hon. P. McM. Glynn (Minister for Home and Territories).

The viceregal party was received by his Grace Archbishop Spence, O.P., D.D., and the members of the reception committee, while the scholars formed a guard of honor.

In calling upon his Excellency to unveil the roll of honor, Archbishop Spence said he felt particularly pleased that Sir Lionel Galway had consented to take part in the function of that afternoon. The roll of honor contained 280 names, and of that number two had gained the military cross and four the military medal. (Applause.) The roll of honor did not represent all the Catholic young men who had gone to the front. The Marist Brothers and the Christian Brothers' College had between them 300 representatives in the firing line. (Applause.)

His Excellency said he had opened the college two years and a half ago, and was now accorded the further privilege of unveiling a roll of honor which recorded the names of those old collegians who answered to the call of duty. The occasion was one for congratulation and sympathy—congratulation to the families from which the men came, and sympathy for the relatives who were mourning the loss of those who had fallen in battle. The college had a splendid record, and coupled with that of the Christian Brothers' College, he did not think it could be equalled or beaten by any other similar institution. (Applause.) The colleges had a tremendous lot to their credit in sending forth men in such a great cause. Many had gained honors, but there were thousands, probably millions, of cases of gallantry on the field which would be unrewarded. The roll of honor he had just unveiled would ever stand as a fine record of citizenship and duty well done. (Applause.) He desired to express to the Catholic community of this State and to the other communities as well, his great appreciation of the men who had gone to the front. He asked Brother Joseph, the rector of the college, and those associated with him, to cherish the roll of honor, which would prove to future generations the kind of men turned out by the college. (Applause.)

Hon. A. W. Styles (Minister of Education, spoke on "Australia and the War."

Mr. Crawford Vaughan also spoke.

Mr. Crawford Vaughan also spoke. Brother Joseph moved, and Mr. A. Hannan seconded, a vote of thanks to his Excellency and Lady Galway. Lady Galway responded.

Musical items were contributed by an orchestra, under the conductorship of Mr. J. Meaghan, and choruses were sung by the pupils of the Marist Brothers' College, at Norwood.
